

High Performance Team Leadership Pyramid

In order to build a high performance health care team, it is important to understand that avoidance behaviours relating to 'fear' constitute the biggest risk to safe and effective patient care.

Breaking down those negative behaviours is imperative
If the goal is to attain optimised patient outcomes and sustainable high performance teamwork.

Leadership based on trust will achieve this.
Management based on Command and Control will never achieve this.